The History of the Roman Republic.

Abridged from the History by PROFESSOR MOMMSEN. By C. BRYANS, Assistant-Master in Dulwich College, and F. J. R. HENDY, Assistant-Master in Fettes College. 12mo, $1.75.

PROFESSOR THEODOR MOMMSEN'S History of the Roman Republic is recognized both by scholars and by the public generally as a work of incomparable value and of fascinating interest—profound and yet eminently readable. This abridgment of MOMMSEN'S popular work presents the salient points of the original in a form suitable for use in schools and colleges and for the convenience of the general reader who is pressed for time. The ideas throughout are those of MOMMSEN, and the book will appeal to a large class.

DR. MOMMSEN'S OTHER WORKS.

THE HISTORY OF ROME.

From the Earliest Time to the Period of its Decline. Translated by W. P. DICKSON. 4 vols., 8vo, $8.00.

THE PROVINCES OF THE ROMAN EMPIRE.

From Cæsar to Diocletian. Translated by W. P. DICKSON. With 10 maps. 2 vols., 8vo, $6.00.

A NEW VOLUME IN THE EPOCHS OF MODERN HISTORY SERIES.

The English Restoration and Louis XIV.

From the Peace of Westphalia to the Peace of Nimwegen. By OSMUND AIRY. With 3 maps. 16mo, $1.00.

In a clear, concise, and graphic style, the author has given a remarkably interesting account of this important period of modern history. The struggle between Charles II. and the Parliament, the Wars of the English and French with the Dutch; the Parliamentary and the New Fronde, the great figures of the time, the French King, Mazarin, Cardinal de Retz, and the Prince of Condé, all are vividly described. The analysis of the character and reign of Louis XIV. is particularly brilliant.

EPOCHS OF MODERN HISTORY.

A series of books narrating the history of England and Europe at successive epochs subsequent to the Christian era. Edited by EDWARD E. MORRIS. 18 vols., 16mo, with 77 maps, plans, and tables. Sold separately. Price per vol., $1.00; the set, Roxburghe style, gilt top, in box, $18.00.

NOTES IN SEASON.

FUNK & WAGNALLS have just ready a new volume by Dr. Howard Crosby entitled "The Bible View of the Jewish Church," comprising the thirteen lectures delivered between January and April, 1888, in the Fourth Avenue Presbyterian Church, to the author's congregation.

THE WORTHINGTON Co. will publish on the 25th inst., in addition to the books announced in our last issue, "Gertrude's Marriage," by W. Heimburg, translated by Mrs. J. W. Davis, and fully illustrated; also a collection of the poetical and dramatic works of Algernon C. Swinburne.

E. P. DUTTON & Co. call attention to their Easter monotypic books and booklets, manufactured by Nister, Drane, and Hawkins, ranging from fifteen cents to one dollar apiece. Although Easter Day this year falls three weeks later than last, April 21, it is not too early for the trade to make preparations for the steadily increasing business which this greatest church festival brings with it.

D. APPLETON & Co. will publish February 1, in their neat Town and Country Library, a novel by Helen Kendrick Johnson, entitled "Raleigh Westgate, or, Epimenides in Maine." The time of the story is just before and during the rebellion, but the reader is carried back to some curious episodes in the early history of Maine, the traditions of which supply part of the material for the plot. Mrs. Johnson, the author, is wife of Rossiter Johnson, the well-known littérateur.

CHARLES SCRIBNER'S SONS publish to-day "The History of the Roman Republic," abridged from the history of Prof. Mommsen, by C. Bryans and F. J. R. Henty, which presents the salient points of the original in a form suitable for use in schools and colleges and for the convenience of the general reader; "The English Restoration and Louis XIV., from the peace of Westphalia to the peace of Nimwegen," by Osmund Airy, in the Epochs of Modern History series; and "The Validity of Non-Episcopal Ordination," the Dudgeon lecture, by Prof. G. P. Fisher.

SCRIBNER & WELFORD have just issued a new edition of Barry E. O'Meara's "Napoleon at St. Helena," in two volumes, with numerous illustrations in colors and black and white. A refutation of Croker's diatribe which appeared in 1822 and a Napoleon Calendar have been added by the editors. They have also just ready a new edition of D'Anvers' "History of Art." A new edition, in the Ideal Series, of "Sartor Resartus," with an etched portrait of Carlyle; an édition de luxe of "Kensington: picturesque and historical," by W. J. Loftie, with upwards of 300 picturesque and delicate illustrations by W. Luker, Jr.; and the first volume of Prof. Franz Delitzsch's Commentary on the Book of Genesis, of which this house (by special arrangement with the author) is publishing a translation of the fifth edition, thoroughly revised, and in large part rewritten.

TICKNOR & Co. will publish this month a volume by Rose Terry Cooke, entitled "Steadfast," which treats of orthodoxy in the past and will no doubt prove an interesting addition to contemporary controversial literature; "Great Captains," by Col. Theodore Ayrault Dodge, U. S. A., six interesting lectures upon Alexander, Hannibal, Cæsar, Gustavus Adolphus, Frederick, and Napoleon, delivered before the Lowell Institute, Boston, illustrated with 21 maps and battle-plans; "Ancient and Modern Light-houses," by Major D. P. Heap, of the Engineer Corps, U. S. A., an interesting scientific and historical treatise, exclusively considering this important theme, with thirty-three full and double-page plates, and seventy text illustrations; a new edition in two volumes of "Discourses on Architecture," by E. E. Viollet-Le-Duc, richly and copiously illustrated with hundreds of steel-engravings and wood-cuts; and a new edition of "A Handbook of Christian Symbols, and stories of the saints, as illustrated in art," by Clara Erskine Clement and Katherine E. Conway.

WEEKLY RECORD OF NEW PUBLICATIONS.*

The abbreviations are usually self-explanatory. c. after the date indicates that the book is copyrighted; if the copyright date differs from the imprint date, the year of copyright is added. Books of foreign origin of which the edition (annotated, illustrated, etc.) is entered as copyright, are marked c. ed.; translations, c. tr.; n. p. in place of price, indicates that the publisher makes no price, either net or retail, and quotes prices to the trade only upon application.

Balzani, Ugo. The Popes and the Hohenstaufen. N. Y., A. D. F. Randolph & Co., [1889.] 6+261 p. D. (Epochs of church history.) cl., 80 c.

"The history of the relations between the Popes and the Hohenstaufen is one which cannot be easily kept within strict limits, but is apt to extend to that of the whole of Europe and of much of the East. It has been a difficult task to confine it within the small space of these pages, nor could this have been done without rigorously excluding everything which did not bear directly on the relations of the Papacy with the House of Suabia and on those historical events which exerted such influence over those regions, especially in Italy, where the great drama was chiefly acted."—Preface.

Barrie, J. M. When a man's single: a tale of literary life. N. Y., Harper, 1889. 234 p. D. (Harper's Franklin sq. lib., new ser., no. 636.) pap., 35 c.

The career of a young Scotchman "Rob Angus," is the subject of this novel. He is unusually gifted and clever, though born among the working people of a little Scotch village. His literary career is interfered with for awhile from his having to assume the care of his sister's little child, but the little thing meets with a sad death, while attempting to carry him the letter which offers him a position on an English newspaper. The child's death sets him free, and he goes to Silchester and becomes a reporter on the Daily Mirror. His experience as a reporter and reviewer is quite amusing, and his love affair is full of interest.

Beaumont, Grace. Aunt Judith; the story of a loving life. N. Y., T. Nelson & Sons, 1889. 7-220 p. 2 il. D. cl., $1.

Nellie Latimer comes to London to be educated, and lives with three maiden aunts, one of whom is "Aunt Judith." Nellie's school troubles and those of her friend, Winnie Blake, are the chief events. Aunt Judith is a beautiful character, loving and helpful to all about her. A good story for young girls.

Bowen, Cuthbert, M.D., comp. Handbook of materia medica, pharmacy, and therapeutics; comp. for the use of students preparing for examination. Phil., F. A. Davis, 1888. c. 6+366 p. D. cl., net, $1.40.

Aims at furnishing candidates for examination in our medical schools with a résumé of those points in materia medica, pharmacy, and therapeutics with which they must be familiar in order to meet the requirements of the faculty of any reputable institution. All the drugs recognized by the United States Pharmacopœia and their official preparations have been treated of in detail, special stress being laid on those points which in the past have proved stumbling-blocks to the candidate in the examination-room. In the form of question and answer.

Clements, M. E. Eagle and dove: a tale of the Franco-Prussian war, founded on fact. N. Y., T. Nelson & Sons, 1889. 3-172 p. 2 il. D. cl., 80 c.

A pretty German girl sent to a French school at Metz is the heroine. Though but a mere girl, she has excited the love of a German officer, and it is in the hope that she will forget him—as her father thinks her too young to wed—that she is sent away. The war breaks out between France and Prussia while she is at school, and a good picture is given of how it looked to those shut up in Metz. The German girl has two carrier pigeons with her, which act their part in the little love drama, carrying messages back and forward.

Clemmer, Mary. His two wives. 10th ed. Bost., Ticknor & Co., [1889.] c. '74. 6+585 p. S. (Ticknor's pap. ser., no. 50.) pap., 50 c.

Crane, Rev. Oliver. Minto, and other poems. N. Y., Wilbur B. Ketcham, 1888. c. 239 p. D. cl., $1.25.

The opening poem, "Minto," was written in the spring of 1845, and delivered before the Society of Brothers in Unity at Yale College. It has since, on a few occasions, been, by special request, read, but has never been published till now. The majority of the other poems appeared in different papers and magazines, and are now for the first time collected. They are well worth reading and preserving, some of them possessing unusual merit.

and is slowly dying. After her death, her brother-in-law, James Wardlaw, comes for the children, and takes them to Scotland. "Em" is only ten and the other two younger when they go to Scotland. They are all three clever, unruly children, speaking several foreign languages fluently. Their experience with their Scotch aunts and uncles is very amusing, and their homesickness at first full of pathos. Their stories are continued till they are grown up, when "Em" finds a lover, and "Al" and "Teddy" get into serious troubles.

Green, Evelyn Everett. Dulcie and Tottie; the story of an old-fashioned pair. N. Y., T: Nelson & Sons, 1889. 7-246 p. 2 il. D. cl., $1.

Opens with the coming of "Dulcie" and "Tottie," a little girl and boy of 12 and 8, who have lost father and mother, to stay in an uncle's house and be educated with their cousins. The orphaned cousins are a quaint pair, full of an old-fashioned wisdom, and become in a short time an influence in their new nursery and school-room. The scenes are all from home life in an English house, some sad ones mingling with the gay.

Contents: What Florida offers; A backward glance; Climate; Health; Temperature; Pine lands and hammocks; Where shall I settle? What will it cost? Making the home; Home surroundings; What shall I need? What shall I eat? Home supplies; The dairy question; Pasturage; Florida poultry; The poultry-yard; Poultry patients; Firing the woods; All about fences; Household help; Trials and tribulations; Making the best of it; Helpful hints.

Hinman, Russell. Eclectic physical geography. Cin., Van Antwerp, Bragg & Co., [1889.] c. '88. 382 p. il. D. cl., net, $1.

Presents, in the form of an introductory chapter, a condensed statement of the more important and fundamental scientific conceptions regarding the properties and phenomena of matter and energy, such as inertia, gravitation, cohesion, affinity and heat, light, magnetism and electricity. This is to give the student some idea of the principles of science before attacking the subject of physical geography, which is treated in chapters under the headings, The earth, The atmosphere, The sea, Land, weather, and climate, Life. The work is handsomely printed, with numerous maps, charts, and illustrations.

McLean, Sally Pratt. Lastchance Junction, far far West: a novel. Bost., Cupples & Hurd, 1889. c. 10-258 p. D. cl., $1.25.

The author of "Cape Cod folks" has written a story which recalls many of Bret Harte's earlier efforts. "Lastchance Junction" is the refuge of a number of men and women, who are fugitives from justice; but in spite of being forgers and murderers, they are represented as possessing attractive and endearing qualities. The hero, "Gordon Ferris," has fled to Lastchance Junction on account of some desperate act committed in the eastern states. He is a handsome fellow, of good family, and a brave, reckless rider. As the star of a sort of "Wild West" show, he wins the heart of Lucie Dorne, a beautiful, educated woman, who "runs away" with him, and becomes his wife. Her life is a miserable one, shadowed by the crimes and brutality of her husband.

Miller, Mrs. Alex. McVeigh. Rosamond; or, Sundered hearts. N. Y., Street & Smith, [1889.] c. 219 p. D. (The select ser., no. 18.) pap., 25 c.

Martin de Porres was born at Burgos, in Spain, in the seventeenth century; he was the son of a Spanish nobleman and a free negro woman. Martin's resemblance to his mother was a bar to any social rank or dignity, his father looking upon him with shame and aversion. He sought the Catholic Church for consolation, and became, in years, a shining example of humility and practical goodness.

South Carolina. The code of civil procedure as revised in 1882, with amendments up to date; annot. by O. W. Buchanan. Raleigh, Edwards & Broughton, 1888. c. 338 p. O. shp., $7.

Stewart, J. S., M.D. Obstetric synopsis. Phil., F. A. Davis, 1888. c. 10+202 p. il. D. (Physicians' and students' ready reference ser.) cl., net, $1.

By students this work will be found particularly useful. It is based upon the teaching of such well-known authors as Playfair, Parvin, Lusk, Galabin, and Cazeaux and Tarnier, and, besides containing much new and important matter of great value to both student and practitioner, embraces in an appendix the obstetrical nomenclature suggested by Prof. Simpson, of Edinburgh, and adopted by the Obstetric Section of the Ninth International Medical Congress held in Washington, D. C., Sept., 1887.

Taylor, J. The thumb Bible. N. Y., A. D. F. Randolph & Co., [1889.] no paging, 2 in. × 2 in., bds., 50 c.

An edition of John Taylor's "Verbum Sempiternum," an epitome of the Bible in rhyme, termed from its size "The Thumb Bible." John Taylor was born 1580, and died 1654. He was commonly known as the Water-Poet. He first published "Verbum Sempiternum" (epitome of the Old Testament) dedicated to Charles I., and then "Salvator Mundi" (epitome of New Testament). In 1693 these two appeared in one volume dedicated to the Duke of Gloucester. This volume was reprinted in 1849 by Longman & Co., London, and during the present year by Houghton & Stoughton.

Thompson, Maurice. The story of Louisiana; il. by L. J. Bridgman. Bost., D. Lothrop Co., [1889.] 337 p. il. O. (The story of the states.) cl., $1.50.

Of all the states Louisiana is most dowered with the gifts of romance and associations. Its varying fortunes as a colony now of France, now of Spain, its attraction to adventurers from the north, its picturesqueness of scenery and population, its wealth of romance make its history both attractive and exciting. Mr. Thompson's gift as a novelist and essayist, and the fact that he has long been a lover of the South and a student of her people, scenery, and surroundings make him an exceptional historian. The story is told, too, without any partisan or sectional feelings, so that all Americans may enjoy it. The aim has been throughout not to give a dull statistical compilation or historical narrative, but rather to seize the striking and picturesque side of the story that the general reader would most delight in.

Contains a symposium on "Liberalism," the contributors to which are R. G. Ingersoll, James Parton, Helen H. Gardener, Col. J. R. Kelso, E. B. Foote, M.D., and others.

V., M. von. Physicians' interpreter in four languages; specially arranged for diagnosis. Phil., F. A. Davis, 1888. c. 206 p. 2 $\frac{3}{4}$ × 5 in., flex. rus. leath., net, \$1.

The object of this little work is to meet a need often keenly felt by the busy physician—namely, the need of some quick and reliable method of communicating intelligibly with patients of those nationalities and languages unfamiliar to the practitioner. The plan of the book is a systematic arrangement of questions upon the various branches of practical medicine, as the eye, ear, nose, throat, fevers, surgical operations, stomach complaints, general health, special diet, patient's history, etc., and each question is so worded that the only answer required of the patient is merely yes or no. The questions are all numbered, and a complete index renders them always available for quick reference.

Verestchagin, Vassili. Vassili Verestchagin, painter, soldier, traveller: autobiographical sketches; from the German and the French by F. H. Peters; il. after drawings by the author. N. Y., American Art Assoc., 1888. c. 4+196 p. por. and il. D. cl., $1.

Characteristic sketches taken from the great Russian artist's own experience as a soldier, painter, and traveller. They are a fitting accompaniment to the study of his pictures, as they describe with a very graphic pen, many of the scenes from which the pictures were studied. The first sketch relates to "Samarcand," the five others to the Russo-Turkish war, and are entitled "On the Danube," "The passage of the Balkans," "The march on Adrianople—Strukoff," "M. D. Skobelev," and "S. Turgenieff." Verestchagin's portraits and many excellent wood-cuts of his pictures now on exhibition illustrate the book.

The sermons comprise selections from those preached by Bishop Welles, both parochial and occasional. The memoirs are of great value, the latter presenting a history of the church in Wisconsin since the Episcopal election of 1874, including extracts of letters from those in the front of the conflict, with quotations from pamphlets, etc.; comprising a succinct account of the struggles which have made Wisconsin famous throughout the church.

Eve, Sarah, Rebekah, Rachel, Miriam, Ruth, Deborah, Jephtha's daughter, Delilah, The witch of Endor, Hannah, Abigail, The Queen of Sheba, Jezebel, The woman of Shunem, and Esther are the subjects of the discourses.

Witherstine, C. Sumner, M.D. International pocket medical formulary. Phil., F. A. Davis, 1888. c. 269 p. il. S. flex. leath., with side flap, net, $2.

With an appendix containing a posological table, the newer remedies included; important incompatibles; tables on dentition and the pulse; table of drops in a fluidrachm and doses of laudanum graduated for age; formulæ and doses of hypodermic medication, including the newer remedies; uses of the hypodermic syringe; formulæ and doses for inhalations, nasal douches, gargles, and eye-washes; formulæ for suppositories; use of the thermometer in disease; poisons, antidotes and treatment; directions for post-mortem and medico-legal examination; treatment of asphyxia, sunstroke, etc.; anti-emetic remedies and disinfectants; obstetrical table; directions for ligation of arteries; urinary analysis; table of eruptive fevers; motor points for electrical treatment, etc.

Young, C. A. A text-book of general astronomy for colleges and scientific schools. Bost., Ginn & Co., 1888. c. 6+551 p. il. O. cl., $2.50.

The object of the author has been two-fold. First and chiefly, to make a book adapted for use in the college class-room; and, secondly, to make one valuable as a permanent storehouse and directory of information for the student's use after he has finished his prescribed course. As a text-book the work is meant to supply that information upon the subject which may fairly be expected of every liberally educated person, assuming in mathematics only the most elementary knowledge of algebra, geometry, and trigonometry. Its aim is to give a clear, accurate, and justly proportioned presentation of astronomical facts, principles, and methods in such form that they can be easily apprehended by the average college student with a reasonable amount of effort. The double object has involved some difficulty, and occasionally some compromise; but it is believed that the author's judgment and his careful use of such mechanical aids as different styles of type, have enabled him to secure both of these most desirable objects.

NOTES ON AUTHORS.

KATE SANBORN is said to be engaged on a volume to be called "The Eminent Women of New York."

"MR. ROBERT DUNLOP, who will be known," says the Academy, "as a thorough and impartial student of Irish history, has undertaken to write a Life of Grattan for the Statesmen series, published by Messrs. W. H. Allen & Co."

ALPHONSE DAUDET is said to be engaged on a novel which will be entitled "La Lutte pour la Vie" (Struggle for Life). It will be a sequel to "L'Immortel," inasmuch as the hero will be a member of Asti-Rehu's family. In it Daudet will apply himself to convince the sceptic world that French home-life is a reality and French domestic virtue not a mere word. This novel is based on a play which M. Daudet read a short time ago to M. Koning, proprietor of the Gymnase Theatre, Paris, where it will be shortly performed under the same title as the novel.

"THE ingenuous person who endeavored to put James Gordon Bennett in book-form under the title of 'A Modern Don Juan,' has not apparently met with a very great degree of success," said a clerk in Brentano's to a N. Y. Sun reporter. "Mr. Bennett's life is now thoroughly well known. It would be just about as good a scheme to write a history of the heresies of Robert G. Ingersoll. People know all that they care to know about Bennett and Ingersoll as it is. By the way, we have noticed that books which depend for a sale upon personalities are not as successful here as they are in our branch house in Europe. That is probably because people over there who are worth writing about at all have a species of fame which has more permanency than the best of sensational small talk in America."

"MR. J. H. SHORTHOUSE, the author of 'John Inglesant' and 'The Countess Eve,' is not a dreamy recluse, as most of his readers must conclude. He is, on the contrary," says the N. Y. Tribune, "a chemical manufacturer, and the successor of several generations of Shorthouses who have carried on the business in Birmingham. He is short, and has a rather strong face, a big nose, black hair, and an impediment in his speech. It is said that to this little inconvenience he probably owes his literary achievements. All through his life it has prevented him from expressing in words his ideas on any subject that strongly interests him. He can talk easily enough on business matters, but for the expression of deeper thought his only medium is the pen. So in early life he joined an essay society, each member of which was pledged to read the essays which the others wrote. 'John Inglesant' was the development of this essay-writing."

The Publishers' Weekly.

FOUNDED BY F. LEYPOLDT.

JANUARY 19, 1889.

The editor does not hold himself responsible for the views expressed in contributed articles or communications.

All matter, whether for the reading-matter columns or our advertising pages, should reach this office not later than Wednesday noon, to insure insertion in the same week's issue.

In case of business changes, notification or card should be immediately sent to this office for entry under "Business Notes." New catalogues issued will also be mentioned when forwarded.

Publishers are requested to furnish title-page proofs and advance information of books forthcoming, both for entry in the lists and for descriptive mention. An early copy of each book published should be forwarded, to insure correctness in the final entry.

"Every man is a debtor to his profession, from the which, as men do of course seek to receive countenance and profit, so ought they of duty to endeavor themselves by way of amends to be a help thereunto."—LORD BACON.

A CASE OF COPYRIGHT BY COURTESY.

WHETHER it is owing to the strong feeling that has been manifested in this country against the publication of a cheap pirated edition of Prof. Bryce's monumental work on "The American Commonwealth," or whether those who contemplated such a course have been led to recognize the unprofitableness of making the attempt under the circumstances, we do not know, but it seems about certain that no publisher will for the present undertake it. This is encouraging, and the publishing trade is to be congratulated on the resolve. Waiving all other considerations, an attack on this work, in the present period of agitation for international copyright, by an American publishing house of even the slightest importance, would be unwise, to say the least. In our efforts to come to a proper understanding in the adjustment of international copyright legislation, it is necessary to have friends not only here but in England, and even the most thoughtless will admit that it were better to have the friends and associates of a man of Prof. Bryce's standing on our side than as opponents.

And from a more disinterested point of view such an act would be sad injustice. The author's materials, as the Boston Advertiser has pointed out, "were gathered by the most patient, candid, and acute inquiry in this country, and represent many years of labor on his part and that of his American assistants. He has made admirable use of them in the preparation of a work universally recognized as a monument to our Commonwealth and of the foremost importance to all students of our institutions and people. For such a monograph the nation cannot afford to show itself ungrateful."

The case of this book, as also of "Robert Elsmere," illustrates, however, the point made by those who advocate a manufacturing clause as a part of international copyright. In both instances, the books were for some time out of print in this market owing to the unexpected demand for them and the fact that it took longer to obtain supplies from England, even by the help of the cable, than it would have done to run off new editions in this country. The fact, moreover, that a house in London may be more conservative than its branch here, and so be inclined to underestimate the demand in the case of popular books like these, adds to the difficulty. But the edition of Professor Bryce's book prepared for America illustrates also another point in relation to English copyright—that a book is almost sure, whether it comes from English or American publishers, to be brought out in such shape as to fulfil the conditions of the market which it seeks. The English edition of "The American Commonwealth" is in three volumes, and sells at about $13; the American edition is in two octavo volumes of nearly 750 pages each, printed in readable type, on good paper, bound in cloth, and is sold at $6. The book might possibly be reprinted to sell at a somewhat lower price, but at the expense of good book-making; and there are few who will grudge the price named in view of the permanent importance of the book and the great labor which has been given to it by the author.

We give elsewhere in this issue an account of the most painful occurrence that we have ever been obliged to record in this journal. One of our fraternity has been called upon to witness not only the total destruction of his business—possibly the only source from which he derives a living—but worse still, to see others dependent upon him for a livelihood suffering, dying, and dead, one of these his own son. We feel that in moments like these words, however tender and well-meant, are but words, and of little avail. Let sympathy, therefore, be expressed in action. We trust that every one connected with the book and stationery trades—especially those having business relations with the afflicted—will see his way clear to extending help of a practical kind to Mr. H. Lee Mason, as well as that kindly sympathy which to the depressed is always a source of comfort.

THE STATIONERS' BOARD OF TRADE MEETING.

THE annual meeting of the Stationers' Board of Trade was held at its rooms on the 8th inst., President George L. Pease, in the chair. 126 firms were present or represented. The President in his address expressed his entire satisfaction with the working of the Board as reorganized. It seems that the change in 1887 proved almost disastrous. He pointed out that in the Bureau of Records and Reports the Board now has over thirty-one thousand reports of traders in every part of the United States and Canada. These have been largely revised and verified and many new reports added. Some members have made from twelve hundred to fifteen hundred inquiries during the year, while others have not availed themselves of the privilege to any extent. To those who know the value of these reports, he said, "it seems unaccountable that members should pay their membership fee and not ask for what they are entitled to receive. Many members use the collection bureau largely who do not ask for a report from the record department. I would inform such members that often the record department would ring out the danger signal that would save your calling at the collection or failure desk later."

The Treasurer's report showed a balance January 1, 1889, of $108.66, the expenditures having amounted to $12,995.01 during the past year. The following report of the Executive Committee, of which Mr. C. T. Dillingham is chairman, will be found interesting and proof that the Board is worthy of the confidence that has been placed in it:

"There has been received and disbursed by both the collection and failure departments," says the committee, "together, $110,029.41, against $88,929.24 in 1887, which shows an increase of cash collected over 1887 of $22,100.17. The books have been audited monthly and found correct."

"Since March last no legal department has existed, all claims going through the Secretary's hands direct to our city attorney, who has shown himself active and alive to the interests of the Board. A great number of cases placed in Mr. James L. Bishop's hands have turned out very satisfactorily, and the Board should feel pleased to know that they have such a painstaking attorney."

"When your present Executive Committee took charge of the office in February last they found a debt to the amount of about $1100. This indebtedness has been settled in full, we closing the year without having been called upon to touch the redemption fund, and with a balance in the bank of $108.65, and interest due us from savings bank of about $140, as well as dues uncollected from members amounting to $100, which clearly shows the Board is now in a healthy and prosperous condition."

At the election of trustees the following were chosen: Alexander Agar, James C. Aikin, Henry C. Bainbridge, Walter G. Berlin, Louis H. Blakeman, Bloomfield Brower, Charles T. Dillingham, John Gibson, Oscar S. Greenleaf, William C. Horn, Samuel I. Knight, Amos M. Lyon, John McLoughlin, Samuel Molleson, George L. Pease, Charles E. Runk, Frank Squier, and Iwan Von Auw.

CATASTROPHE IN PITTSBURG, PA.

A TERRIFIC storm of wind and hail swept over Pittsburg, Pa., on the afternoon of the 9th inst., carrying with it death and desolation. The greatest sufferers in this calamity seem to have been old friends of the trade—J. R. Weldin & Co.'s book and stationery store. From a letter received from Mr. W. W. Waters, of Pittsburg, it appears that the "building occupied by Weldin & Co., which fronts on Wood Street, extending back 100 feet to an alley, was almost surrounded by a new building in Diamond Street, owned by C. L. Willey. The building was only partly completed. It was thirty by eighty feet in dimensions, and was seven stories high. The front of the building had not been put in, and the wind seemed to enter the huge shell from the open end. The high walls of brick and undried mortar were parted, one falling each way, partly wrecking nearly a dozen surrounding buildings. The greatest of these falling masses was thrown against the building occupied by Weldin & Co., the one side of the wall striking in upon it in an almost unbroken sheet, crashing down through three stories into the cellar, burying everything in hopeless ruin. So tremendous was the concussion caused by the falling mass that the entire front of the Weldin building was hurled into the street, leaving the three floors exposed, through which could be seen the absolute wreck in the rear. Fortunately, the cyclone struck at a time when few people are out; nevertheless, it is astonishing that of the large number of employes in the store at the time, so many reached the street alive. As it is, but two are known to be dead and five or six injured. Mr. Mason, the proprietor, was at dinner, and thus escaped. A son was caught between the safe and the falling timbers and imprisoned for hours, and when rescued was found to be seriously hurt. It is feared his sight is destroyed. Two bodies are still under the ruins and certainly dead, one an errand-boy, the other Dr. J. L. Read, who will be remembered by the trade of thirty years ago as the manager of the Methodist Book-Store. Dr. Read had an office in the Weldin building. He was a venerable old gentleman, much beloved by all who knew him. In his time he was the personification of an intelligent, discriminating bookseller, a man who made the business of selling books the honorable one it should be.

"Mr. Mason will command the sympathy of the book-trade. A son perhaps fatally injured, a number of employes dead or dying, a stock of goods almost wiped out of existence, with a store building literally a pile of rubbish; his case is indeed a hard one. What the net result will be so far as the stock is concerned it is impossible at this time to say. It is certain, however, that what is lost is lost, as no insurance policy will cover the damage. As to redress from the contractor of the building which did the mischief, that is problematical.

"The book-store of H. Watts & Co. was filled with dirt and lime and obliged to close up for repairs, but not seriously injured."

THE CENTURY DICTIONARY.

THE new "Century Dictionary," which has been in course of preparation by The Century Co. during the past seven years, is approaching completion, and it is expected that the issue of the work will begin during the coming spring. It will be published by subscription, and in parts, or "sections," the whole, consisting of about 6500 pages, to be finally bound into six quarto volumes. Although the printers have been engaged upon the type-setting for more than two years, the publishers have waited until the labor of making the plates is so well advanced that the work can be regularly issued at intervals of about a month and completed within two years.

Probably few works of greater magnitude or importance have ever been put forth by an American house. The editor-in-chief, Prof. William Dwight Whitney, of Yale University, who is one of the highest authorities in philology in America and England, has been assisted by nearly fifty experts, college professors and others, each a recognized authority in his own specialty—the design of the dictionary being to make it complete and authoritative in every branch of literature, science, and the arts. It is intended that the botanist shall find in the "Century Dictionary" full definitions of terms in his special line of study; that the civil engineer and the architect can turn to it for the definitions (usually with plans and pictures) of the terms in their own specialties. And so with every other pursuit or profession—law, music, medicine, chemistry, anatomy, archaeology, zoölogy, mineralogy, theology, etc., etc. Each expert is reading the proofs of the entire work; indeed the proofs are read by more than sixty people. For seven years not fewer than a hundred persons, and sometimes more, have been working upon this Dictionary. Trained readers have been searching the fields of English literature for words and uses of words and quotations. Over two thousand authors will be quoted, and it is understood that American books, and even the current literature of the magazines, have been liberally drawn upon.

The Dictionary will contain definitions of probably two hundred thousand words, and these without including any useless compounds. The work is encyclopædic, in the sense that it gives, in addition to definitions and the etymological history of words, a very great amount of detailed information which has hitherto been found only in the encyclopædias, and often not even in them.

There will be about six thousand cuts in the text, the subjects of which have usually been chosen by the experts in charge of the special departments. They have been drawn, whenever possible, from the object itself, and engraved under the supervision of the Art Department of The Century Co. The engravings are said to be of a higher class than have yet found place in any work of this character.

It is understood that all rights have been obtained for the issue of this dictionary throughout the English-speaking world, and that it will be published in England simultaneously with its issue in this country.

THE COPYRIGHT BILL TO PROTECT EVERYBODY—AUTHOR, PRINTER, AND READER.

From the Philadelphia Press.

MR. A. C. BLACK, the head of the firm publishing the Encyclopædia Britannica, in his speech at the dinner just given to the contributors in England, unconsciously made the strongest practical argument yet presented for the International Copyright Bill in its present shape. The sale of previous editions of the Encyclopædia, of which the present is the ninth issue, has been about 5000 copies, a few hundreds coming to the United States. The sale of the present edition was 50,000 copies, of which 40,000 were delivered to subscribers in this country. The number sold in this city alone is nearly as large as in the entire country for previous editions.

These copies were all made in England and exported to this country, and it was easy by the pretext of a second edition substantially to evade the protection given by the tariff. The practical result was that the American printer got nothing for manufacturing the work, and the English author, paid on the basis of the English sales, got nothing for writing it, so far as the circulation in this country is concerned. Both ends of the labor were cheated. The American reader got the book at a little lower rate than the English, but no cheaper than he would have received it if the work had been printed in this country under the demand of an American constituency.

Under the copyright law now before the House this work would have been printed and published in this country. The work would have been done and paid for here, and on the American sets alone this would have required an expenditure of at least $2,500,000 in the United States—no small addition even to our enormous publishing trade. But as a matter of fact, with four-fifths of the copies sold in the United States, it would have been cheaper and more economical to manufacture the English as well as the American copies in this country.

The mechanical work of getting out the edition would in all probability have been transferred across the Atlantic. With this transfer made, the Encyclopædia would have undoubtedly given a larger space to American subjects, more American writers would have been employed, and the entire work would have been written and prepared far more from an American standpoint than is now the case. Instead of beginning with an edition and a plan to suit the English market, and altering this to secure a far larger sale in this country, the work would have been begun on American lines in the first place.

What is true of this Encyclopædia is coming to be true in the entire field of literature. Every successful novel, every important work in more solid walks of literature, and every new addition to English letters of a permanent value, sells or is coming to sell in far greater numbers here than in England. As the English publishers, by various devices, can place a cheap edition on our market, making use of plates or sheets whose cost is met by the English sales, a very large share of the demand here adds little to the call for a printer's labor here and adds nothing to the pay of the English writer. His unpaid labor, at the same time, reduces the pay of the American author.

The copyright law will change all this. It will protect everybody in this country, printer, author, and reader. The only interest which is called on to oppose it, and which there is every reason to believe is opposing it, is the English publisher. The authors in the country to a man, the Printers' Unions and the Publishers' Association all agree in urging its passage.

Not once in a decade does the House have before it a bill which every American interest favors, and which receives opposition only from foreign and alien sources. With this bill in its present situation, it needs a two-thirds vote to pass it, and it ought to be possible, in spite of some opposition, to secure this.

If Speaker Carlisle chooses to have this act of justice and equity become a law, we do not doubt that it will pass.

MRS. HUMPHRY WARD WILL NOT COME TO AMERICA.

THE expectations raised by the recent report that the author of "Robert Elsmere" would pay a social visit to America are dispelled in the following letter just received by Mr. Edward W. Bok, of Brooklyn:

61 RUSSELL SQUARE, LONDON, Jan. 7, 1889.

DEAR MR. BOK: I have been much gratified by the pleasant sentiments evoked in the American newspapers by a report that I am shortly to visit your country.

There is, however, no foundation for the statement, and I should be very glad if you would be so kind as to contradict it.

With many thanks for the kind sentiments of my friends, believe me, yours faithfully,

MARY A. WARD.

Mrs. Ward is devoting all her time upon the new novel she has under way, and this is said to be the chief reason of her inability to come to America for the present.

OBITUARY.

JOHN M. PHILLIPS.

JOHN M. PHILLIPS, the senior of the agents of the Methodist Book Concern, managed by Phillips & Hunt at 805 Broadway, New York City, died January 19, at his home in Brooklyn, N. Y. Mr. Phillips was a Kentuckian, and was born in 1820. He first entered the employ of the Western Methodist Book Concern in Cincinnati, at the age of eighteen, and continued there in various positions until 1872. In that year he was appointed lay delegate to the Methodist General Conference held in Brooklyn, N. Y., and was elected agent of the Methodist Book Concern of New York City, the first layman who ever held the place. He was reelected at every subsequent Conference, and after the resignation of Dr. Nelson became chief manager of the vast publishing interests of the Methodist Church, his associate for several years past being Dr. Hunt. For the last ten years he has also been treasurer of the Missionary Society. In 1884 he made a tour of the missions of Mexico, with the late Bishop Harris, and was appointed lay delegate by the Mexican Conference to represent them at the last General Conference held in New York City in 1888. Mr. Phillips was a leading member of St. John's Church, Brooklyn. The cause of his death was blood-poisoning brought on by a carbuncle. The funeral took place on the 17th. The body will be interred in Cincinnati. Mr. Phillips leaves a wife and four children.

ALEXANDER T. MCGILL.

ALEXANDER T. MCGILL, D.D., M.D., Emeritus Professor of Ecclesiastical, Homiletic, and Pastoral Theology at Princeton Theological Seminary, died at Princeton, N. J., on the 13th inst., after a lingering illness, aged 81. He was of Scotch-Irish ancestry, and was born at Cannonsburg, Washington County, Pa., 1807. Dr. McGill was graduated from Jefferson College in Pennsylvania in 1826 with the highest honors. In 1854 he was chosen to his professorship in the Princeton Seminary, where he did active duty until five years ago, when he became deaf and was retired. After his retirement from active duty at Princeton, Dr. McGill devoted himself to literary pursuits. He was a prolific writer, and there is now in the press of the Presbyterian Board of Publication at Philadelphia his work on "The Ordinances of the Presbyterian Church." He was Moderator of the Presbyterian General Assembly in 1848, and was widely known as one of the eldest Moderators.

BUSINESS NOTES.

ELKHART, IND.—C. Arnkens, bookseller, it is reported, has been closed up on foreclosure of chattel mortgage.

GRAND RAPIDS, MICH.—George A. Hall & Co., booksellers and stationers, we learn, have made an assignment.

LYONS, N. Y.—H. D. Lent, bookseller, according to the American Stationer, has made an assignment.

NEW ORLEANS, LA.—Lafargue & Brierre, booksellers, have dissolved partnership.

NEW YORK CITY.—We regret to learn that Knight, Loomis & Co., publishers of school-books, have been obliged to make an assignment. The embarrassment, we understand, is but a temporary one, and as the firm has the good-will of all its creditors, a speedy settlement may be looked for. It will be remembered that Knight, Loomis & Co. succeeded the firm of Potter, Knight, Ainsworth & Co., which was established in 1886 and continued until September 7, 1888, when the present firm was formed with J. R. Vandeventer, of Plainfield, N. J., as a special partner for $30,000 to September 7, 1891. S. A. Potter, the retiring partner, received $30,000 for his interest, the new firm assuming the obligations of the old firm. Two months after the formation of the firm of Knight, Loomis & Co., two attachments were issued against the firm aggregating $10,500 on notes of the firm of Potter, Knight, Ainsworth & Co. Bonds were given on the attachment, and it was alleged that the notes were given by Mr. Potter for his own benefit. Bradstreet's took away the firm's rating, and since then it has been trying to arrange its affairs. The firm claims that the assignment was caused by the issue of firm paper by S. A. Potter for his individual benefit, a large amount of which had to be borne by the firm without any benefit to it. The liabilities are about $200,000, confined to a few creditors, and the assets are not definitely known yet, but consist of a large stock of books, plates, and accounts. The amount of notes issued by Mr. Potter which the firm has had to take care of is said to be about $22,000.

PONTIAC, MICH.—Richard Brooke, bookseller, it is reported, has been closed under foreclosure of chattel mortgage.

WINONA, MINN.—William Roessner, bookseller and stationer, has been succeeded by Roessner & Luehmann.

YORK, PA.—Harry P. Miller, bookseller and stationer, is in the hands of the sheriff.

JOURNALISTIC NOTES.

THE number of Harper's Bazar for January 11 contained the first instalment of Frances Hodgson Burnett's new story, "The Pretty Sister of José." C. S. Reinhart furnishes the illustrations.

THE new departure of the New York Ledger attracts much notice. Mrs. Burnett and Mr. Stevenson are engaged to write for the Ledger, and in the current number a learned paper by Dr. McCosh is found beside some very lurid fiction.

COLLIER'S Once a Week is apparently a sort of eagle among the doves. It is said to offer "rates" to the most popular writers such as the magazines, with all the pressure of competition, decline to pay, and to threaten a consequent monopoly of much of the high-priced talent. Its liberality confounds the older journals.—The American.

THE Boston Commonwealth has discarded the folio make-up and now comes out a handsome sixteen-page weekly. The staff has been enlarged and several new departments added. After Mr. Charles W. Slack's death the paper was for a short time owned by Messrs. Thayer & Washburn. It was then purchased by Mr. G. S. Peck, and for the past three years has been under the editorial charge of his wife, Mrs. Georgia A. Peck.

THE publication office of the Leonard Scott Publishing Co. has been transferred from Philadelphia to New York City, and the American edition of the Nineteenth Century, the Contemporary Review, the Fortnightly Review, the West- minster Review, the Edinburgh Review, the Quarterly Review, the Scottish Review, and Blackwood's Magazine, as well as the American Naturalist and Shakesperiana, will hereafter be issued from 29 Park Row, New York City. This change has been made to insure an earlier issue of these periodicals by the greater facilities thus secured for the importation of original sheets. Shakesperiana will hereafter be conducted under the auspices of the New York Shakespeare Society.

A PROSPECTUS of a monthly magazine to be called Poet-Lore, and to be devoted solely to the illustration of Shakespeare and Browning, and to the comparative study of poetic literature, has just been issued. It is signed by Charlotte Porter, late editor of Shakesperiana (from August, 1886, to December, 1888), and Helen A. Clarke, whose address is 223 S. 38th St., Philadelphia. Dr. W. J. Rolfe will contribute to its study department a series of questions and helps for the study of Shakespeare's plays, beginning in the February number with "Love's Labor's Lost," and continuing with later plays. The "Explanatory Index to Allusions in Browning's Pauline," given in the January number, will be continued through the later poems. Dr. Horace Howard Furness' lectures on Shakespeare, delivered at the University of Pennsylvania, will appear in extracts made by Dr. Furness for this publication. W. H. Wyman's Bacon-Shakespeare Bibliography will be continued from the December number of Shakesperiana. "Browning's Poetic Form," a seminary (Johns Hopkins) lecture, by Prof. A. H. Smyth; "Shakespeare's Verses in Chester's Love's Martyr," by Prof. Wm. T. Harris, of the Concord School of Philosophy; "French and English Literature of Elizabeth's Day," by Prof. M. W. Easton; and other contributions by Prof. Hiram Corson, of the Cornell University, Dr. H. L. Wayland, Michel N. Darnalis, of Athens, Talcott Williams, and others are promised.

LITERARY AND TRADE NOTES.

HOUGHTON, MIFFLIN & Co. will shortly publish a volume of the late Asa Gray's reviews of botanical literature during the past fifty years, selected and edited by Prof. C. S. Sargent.

F. W. CHRISTERN, New York, will be the American agent of Santa-Anna Nery's elaborate work on Brazilian folk-lore, recently published in Paris. The book has a preface written by Prince Roland Bonaparte.

"THE PILGRIM'S PROGRESS" has been translated into the language spoken in Zanzibar, a tongue called Swahili. It was found necessary to make an adaptation rather than a literal translation. A part of the version was prepared by the late Bishop Steere.

THE WORTHINGTON COMPANY announce elsewhere that, desiring to devote itself hereafter exclusively to the importing and manufacturing and publishing business, it has decided to sell out its retail book department. It certainly would form a nucleus for a fine business.

D. C. HEATH & Co. will put on the market shortly a series of games and charts for home and school use, based on the most approved principles of kindergarten training, prepared by Mme. Warwedel, the distinguished kindergartner of San Francisco, formerly of Washington. They have also nearly ready Scott's "Lay of the Last Minstrel," edited and annotated by T. E. Wetherell.

CASSELL & Co. will issue shortly the Critic's "Authors at Home" papers in three editions—one an ordinary library edition, another a large-paper edition for purposes of illustration, and the third an édition de luxe. The title of Max O'Reil's book on the United States, to be published by them the latter part of this month, is "Jonathan and His Continent—Rambles through American Society." The translation has been made by the author's wife, who is an Englishwoman.

"THE final volumes, III. and IV., of the Life of William Lloyd Garrison by his children have just been given to the printer," says the Nation, "with a view to publication by the Century Co. in the fall. They will be uniform in all respects, with the first two volumes published in 1885, and a general index will supersede the partial index issued with Vol. II. The supply of portraits will be liberal. Each volume covers the space of about twenty years (1841-1860, 1861-1879).

G. P. PUTNAM'S SONS will publish at once "The Pocket Gazetteer of the World," a dictionary of general geography, edited by J. G. Bartholomew, uniform with the "Pocket Atlas;" "The Nursery Lesson-Book," a guide for mothers in teaching young children, with illustrations in outline and a selection of songs set to music, by Philip G. Hubert, Jr.; "Principles of Procedure in Deliberative Bodies," by George Glover Crocker; and three volumes of poetry—"The Rose of Flame, and other poems," by A. R. Aldrich; "Idyls of the Golden Shore," by H. H. Maxwell; "Mastor, a drama," by John Ruse Larus.

CHARLES C. SOULE has just published a volume entitled "The Australian Ballot System, as embodied in the legislation of Australia, Europe, and the United States," a compilation of the ballot acts of South Australia, Queensland, Great Britain, Belgium, Kentucky, New York, and Massachusetts, with portions of the same of Tasmania, New Zealand, West Australia, Victoria, New South Wales, Dominion of Canada, Ontario, Quebec, Luxemborg, Italy, and other countries, with an historical introduction and cuts and diagrams. Mr. Soule has in preparation "The Massachusetts Practice Act," by Chas. E. Grinnel, and the second edition of "Schouler on Executors."

RAND, McNALLY & Co. have in press a volume entitled "Marriage and Divorce: an inquiry into the religious, the practical, and the political aspects of the question," by Ap Richard, Prof. David Swing, and others. If the contributors are true to their reputation the work will be of great value and interest to all who have followed the recent discussions of the moral aspects of marriage and divorce. Prof. Swing will contribute an appendix to the volume. They have also in press another volume by G. O. Shields ("Coquina"), the author of "Hunting in the Great West." The forthcoming volume will be entitled "Cruising in the Cascades," and is a record of an extended hunting tour made by the author in the Cascade Mountains in Oregon, Washington Territory, and British Columbia. The author carried with him a detective camera, and the work is handsomely illustrated from instantaneous photographs and from drawings. The book will contain, also, special chapters on hunting the buffalo, elk, grizzly bear, Rocky Mountain goat, antelope, and deer, and will prove interesting to general readers as well as to sportsmen.

TERMS OF ADVERTISING.

Under the heading "Books Wanted," subscribers only are entitled to a free insertion of five lines for books out of print, exclusive of address, in each issue. Bids for current books and such as may be easily had from the publishers, and repeated matter, as well as all advertisements from non-subscribers, must be paid for at the rate of 10 cents per line.

Under the heading "Books for Sale," the charge to subscribers and non-subscribers is 10 cents per line for each insertion. No deduction for repeated matter.

Under the heading "Situations Wanted," subscribers are entitled to one free insertion of five lines. For repeated matter and advertisements of non-subscribers the charge is 10 cents per line.

All other small advertisements will be charged at the uniform rate of 10 cents per line. Eight words may be reckoned to the line.

Parties with whom we have no accounts must pay in advance, otherwise no notice will be taken of their communications.

Parties desiring to receive answers to their advertisements through this office must either call for them or enclose postage stamps with their orders for the insertion of such advertisements. In all cases we must have the full address of advertisers as a guarantee of good faith.

BOOKS WANTED.

In answering, please state edition, condition, and price, including postage or express charges.

It is desirable to receive copy in shape ready for the printer, viz.: first, headline—name and address—then, titles in separate lines (see below), all written on a separate sheet, or at the bottom of letter, or on postal card. Compliance with this request will secure accurate and prompt insertion.

The Literary News.

With 1889, the LITERARY NEWS will become a capital Dollar Magazine, while keeping to its specialty of giving in an hour's bright reading a bird's-eye view of new books and literary affairs.

A charming novel of New England life, by a new writer, will begin in January and run through the year.

A series of portraits, from original paintings by MISS DORA WHEELER, of Living American Authors, will make fine frontispieces to each number, accompanying descriptive sketches of "Authors and How They Work." Mrs. Burnett and Mrs. Stowe will be among the first given.

Bright articles based on new books will be finely illustrated from them.

The "Survey of Current Literature" presents the best quick view of current literature given in any periodical.

A page of humor and miscellany, usually illustrated by "comics," will enliven each number.

Every bookseller who pushes the LITERARY NEWS, pushes his own trade also, because it is specially intended to help him sell books.

Any bookseller who takes 100 copies monthly has his own imprint-advertisement printed on front cover free. It becomes thus practically his own magazine.

Terms, One Dollar a year; Ten Cents a number.

TO THE TRADE: on sale and return, 6 cents a number; outright (10 or more copies), 5 cents a number; 100 copies monthly, with imprint, $5; 250 copies, $10; 1000 copies, $35. On single copies, mailed to subscribers from this office direct, at $1, one-third commission will be allowed.

Annual Catalogues. 1888.

The Annual American Catalogue for 1888 will be ready as early in 1889 as the mechanical difficulties permit. It will contain:

- (1) Directory of American Publishers issuing books in 1888.
- (2) Full-title Record, with descriptive notes, in author-alphabet, of all books recorded in the PUBLISHERS' WEEKLY / 1888.
- (3) Author-, title-, and subject-index to same, in one alphabet
- (4) Publishers' annual lists for 1888.

The edition is limited, and to secure copies orders should be sent at once. The price is $3.00 sheets, $3.50 half leather; if ordered before publication, the price will be $2.50 in sheets, $3.00 half leather.

The Annual Catalogue for 1886 is now out of print. But few copies of the Annual Catalogue for 1887 are on hand.

The English Catalogue for 1888 is also expected early, price $1.50, paper; the Annual American and English Catalogues, 1888, can be had in one volume, half leather, $5 00.

Early orders for both Catalogues are solicited.

FOR SALE.

WORTHINGTON COMPANY offer their retail stock of books and retail book business FOR SALE. A live bookseller who would keep current new books and stationery could make it even a more profitable business than it is at present. A suitable party purchasing it could get a lease of the front store, 747 Broadway.

We may say that the retail business has been very satisfactory, but hereafter we intend to confine our attention exclusively to importing, manufacturing, and publishing.

WORTHINGTON CO., 747 B'way, N. Y.

E. P. DUTTON & COMPANY'S EASTER ANNOUNCEMENT!

FOR the coming Easter Season we shall have a larger and finer assortment of new and attractive than we have ever yet shown. As in previous seasons, there will, no doubt, be the usual rush of early travellers, offering as Easter Booklets the goods that have already been worked as Christmas books or cards. This class makes its appearance at any season, and can be made ready at short notice by new covers and change of title, enabling such lines to be earlier in the market than any others.

EASTER MONOTINT BOOKS AND BOOKLETS

The public discriminates and will take only the best goods. Remember that Easter comes this year, April 21, three weeks later than last year. This will enable the discreet and wide-awake buyers to hold off from placing their orders until E. P. Dutton & Co.'s new and original line is shown to them.

Our travellers will be on the road with complete books by February 1, and samples will be in the hands of Jobbers by that date.

Our line will be made up from the books of the three largest manufacturers, NISTER, DRANE, HAWKINS, for whose books we are SOLE AGENTS.

TO THE TRADE.

We desire to call the special attention of the Trade to our increased facilities for conducting the book-jobbing business at our new and commodious place of business,

Nos. 740 and 742 Broadway.

We are confident there is no more varied or general stock of

Miscellaneous and School Books, nor one more readily accessible for easy examination to be found in New York; that nowhere else will customers receive more prompt or careful attention or buy on better terms than we are able to offer on our goods.

We hope for a continuance of the liberal patronage which we received in Bond Street, and trust that the greater convenience of our new location, together with our added facilities for serving our customers with efficiency, promptness, and at the lowest prices, will enable us to merit a still greater share of business.

A TIMELY BOOK.

The Bible View of the Jewish Church.

By HOWARD CROSBY, D.D. 12mo, cloth, 210 pp., $1.00. Now Ready.

This work consists of thirteen lectures delivered between January and April, 1888, in the Fourth Avenue Presbyterian Church, to the author's congregation. They produced so profound an impression that Dr. CROSBY was earnestly requested to publish them. The standing of the author as a Biblical scholar and writer is so pronounced, and he is so widely known, that anything from his pen commands wide attention at once. The work is divided into thirteen chapters.

This book is well calculated to have a large sale at this time, and the steady sale of a standard work.

Historical Lights;

or, Six Thousand Historical Extracts, illustrating Thirty Thousand Topics. Especially arranged for Ministers, Lecturers, Public Speakers, Writers for the Press, Lawyers, Conversationalists, Students, and all who have occasion to use Illustrations drawn from History. Compiled by Rev. CHARLES E. LITTLE, author of "Biblical Lights and Side Lights." 8vo, 900 pp., cloth, $5.00; sheep, $6.50.

"These 'Lights' are a galaxy taken exclusively from standard histories and biographies. All are arranged in alphabetical order under suitable topics, and each, complete in itself, refers the reader to the author and chapter quoted. They consist of facts, incidents, examples, and precedents selected for illustrative purposes, and chiefly from the histories of the civilized races of antiquity and the American and English people. The subjects relate to religious, social, and political life—to moral and civil government, etc., etc. The book has a general cross-reference index, also an index of personal names. The book is unique in design and admirable for convenience and utility. The historian's name is appended to every quotation. There are no fugitive anecdotes in the work."

JOSEPH COOK says: "I read it with profit and delight. It will be of great service to all public speakers who know how to add illustrations to arguments. There are admirable materials in it for the feathers for a million arrows."

ABRAM S. HEWITT says: "Such a wealth of material as this work contains makes it one of the most useful collections of information that I have ever seen. It is altogether the best historical reference-book ever published. It is an intelligent collection of authorities such as a student might have made in the course of twenty years, if he had once a day found an item which he regarded as of value. The indices are particularly commendable, and the system of cross-reference is as useful as it is novel."

The Two Books of Nature and Revelation.

By GEORGE D. ARMSTRONG, D.D. 12mo, cloth, $1.00.

Congregationalist, Boston.—"A learned, candid, and unusually exact treatise, admirably clear."

The Record, Phila.—"His acquaintance not only with chemistry and geology, but also with Biblical criticism, admirably fit the author to reconcile much in the historical portion of Scripture which, when taken literally, seems obscure and conflicting."

Christian Union, New York.—"This book is timely and will accomplish much good."

Interior, Chicago.—"The author writes with fairness and evinces a thorough knowledge of his subject. His views are skilfully defended and well worth consideration."

FUNK & WAGNALLS, Publishers, 18 and 20 Astor Place, New York.
